KID'S FITNESS, KID'S FITNESS CHALLENGE, JUNIOR ACROBATIC AND ARTISTIC FITNESS SECOND OPEN GOLD GRAND PRIX

that will take place in Knjaževac, Serbia on May 26th - 28th 2023

Serbia has connected West with East for centuries – a land in which civilizations, cultures, faiths, climates and landscapes meet and mingle. It is located in the center of the Balkan Peninsula, in southeastern Europe. The northern portion belongs to central Europe, but in terms of geography and climate it is also partly a Mediterranean country. Serbia is landlocked but as a Danube country it is connected to distant seas and oceans. Serbia is a crossroads of Europe and a geopolitically important territory. The international roads and railway lines, which run through the country's river valleys, form the shortest link between Western Europe and the Middle East.

From the agricultural regions of the Pannonia Plain in the north, across the fertile river valleys and orchard-covered hills of Šumadija, the landscape of Serbia continues southward, gradually giving way to mountains rich in canyons, gorges and caves, as well preserved forests. Serbia's beautiful mountains, national parks, rivers and lakes are the perfect location for an active outdoor holiday – from hunting and fishing to extreme sports.

Many times during its rich, centuries-long history, Serbia has been at the center of Europe's and the world's attention, out of all proportion to its modest size, economic might and number of inhabitants.

Knjaževac area is settled during prehistoric times, the evidenced of this are settlements of Baranica, Škodrinopolje, Dubrava, etc., horseman cave drawing in Gabrovnica and other archaeological findings. The ancient chronicler Pliny (II century AD) records this territory as a part of the Roman province of Moesia in which live Mezi people, Thracians, Dardanians, Tribals, Timahs, who had been formed, in symbiosis with the Slavic tribes, the local

Many lessons on bravery, patriotism and the struggle for freedom can be learned wherever you turn in Serbia, as you pass through its cities and regions. The cultural and historical heritage of Serbia begins with pre-historic archaeological sites and its legacy from classical antiquity. Perhaps its greatest riches, though, are in the many mediaeval Serbian churches and monasteries, some of which are included on the UNESCO World Heritage list. All year round, numerous cultural, entertainments, traditional and sporting events are held in Serbia, demonstrating the creative power and spiritual vitality of this country. Today, Serbia is a modern, democratic European country, on the path to membership of the European Union, which a diverse range of visitors – from young backpackers to participants in congresses and fairs – visit every day.

Roman fort Timacum Minus, near village of Ravna, with excavated walls, parts of the civil settlement, the rich necropolis, explains the history of the period of Knjaževac area until the Middle Ages. In the town were found the remains of the other famous, Late Roman town, Timacum maius.

In the Roman road map from the IV century Knjaževac was written under the name of Timac Maiori, a settlement that is built on the foundations of the fortress Veliki Timok on the Zdanije hill (the present church, "St. George").

From the period of medieval century are towns Ravna and Koželj, Church of the Virgin in Gornja Kamenica and Holy Trinity Monastery in Donja Kamenica, which were built in the XV century, and the first track of the name Gurgusovac. In some older literature this place were called Kolumbija, it comes from the Latin word columba, meaning pigeon and a true translation is Golubac. This term has no archaeological or written confirmation. In the same time with this name was used, for a long time, name Gurgusovac. This name is mentioned in the Turkish census from 1455. Country legend says that this is the name given by Gri-vas pigeons.

The Turks conquered this area 1396 and annexed it to Vidinska pašaluk. From the time of the Turkish rule there is little information from this area. Records from the VII century precisely recorded Gurgusovac as a military fort with palisades and cannon, with 46 Turkish and 120 Christian homes.

First Serbian Rebellion came in Knjaževac area at 1807 when Hajduk Veljko attacked Gurgusovac, but he could not conquer it until the Serbian-Russian victory in Malajnica. After the Serbian defeat in Čegar, Turks again conquered Gurgusovac. With the capitulation of Serbia 1813, capitulated Gurgusovac, which was again, connected Vidinska pašaluk, until the liberation from the Turks and its association to Serbia 1833. The town inherited Gurgusovac Tower, the prison for political prisoners, known as “The Serbian Bastille”. The tower was burned by order of Prince Miloš Obrenović, so in his honor, the citizens changed the name of town to Knjaževac in 1859.

Difficult economic situation after the war and new taxes for railroad Belgrade - Niš and for military weapons, as well as immediate political situation in the country, led to a revolt Timočka bunina in 1883.

The immediate cause of the revolt was collection of weapons from the national army and the rebellion swept Knjaževac and Knjaževac district in October 1883. and one of the initiators of the rebellion was Aca Stanojević from Knjaževac.

People from Knjaževac were good fighters through all the wars that affected this region, as the Serbo-Bulgarian War, Balkans, and World War I. During the withdrawal of Serbian military in 1915 they were particularly emphasized in the battles for the defense of Belgrade. XIV regiment within the Second Army in breakthrough of Salonika Front in 1918 in crossed the Drina river as the vanguard and it first came to Sarajevo, and reached the Adriatic Sea. After the war flag of the XIV regiment was awarded by Karadjordje Star.

The period between the two wars will be remembered by people who live in Knjaževac in the sign of the development of the municipality, opening of different craft shops and workshops, as well as the industry's first capacity: tanneries, brick wine cellar, so that Knjaževac gets all the elements of the urban environment.

World War II in Knjaževac started with demonstrations against the signing of the pact of Association of Yugoslavia with the Tripartite Pact on March 25/27, 1941 and the occupation of the 11th April 1941 by Germany and the occupation of Budžak by Bulgaria. After a long battle with the Bulgarians and Germans, Knjaževac was finally released on October 10th, 1944.

The rapid development started in 1960 when they started clothing industry “Branka Dinić”, shoe factory “Leda”, tractors and machinery industry IMT, Timok furniture industry “Tina”, a wine cellar became the “Džervin”.

From all of this we can say that the period since 1970 until 1985 were the most important in current development of Knjaževac in all elements of economic and social development. During this period, some buildings which are the symbols of Knjaževac were erected, namely: the Cultural Center, Health Center, Kindergarten, and kindergarten network, several apartment blocks, and, as for the cultural community of Knjaževac is best known one national festival, the Festival of Youth Culture of Serbia, which was established 1962 and continues until today.

GEOGRAPHICAL DATA

Knjaževac municipality is located in eastern Serbia, near the border with the Republic of Bulgaria and it is part of the Timok region. The municipality covers an area of 1202 km² and it is the fourth largest in the Republic of Serbia. A significant part of Knjaževac is part of the hilly-mountainous region.

The highest point on the municipal territory is Midžor on Stara Planina mountain (2169 m a.s.l.), which is the highest peak in the Republic of Serbia. The lowest point is 176 m above sea level and it is located in Knjaževac valley. The municipality includes 86 settlements, 85 villages and one town. The town itself is situated on the composition of Trgoviški Timok and Svrliški Timok which make up Beli Timok, which runs to Zajecar and together with the Crni Timok makes the Timok. The Timok Region is named by that river.

In Knjaževac live 37,172 inhabitants, 19,705 in the town (data from the last census in 2002). The average population density is 31 inhabitants per km², which is classified as a sparsely populated municipality.

TOURISM

Knjaževac, with its ski resort BabinZub offers opportunities for tourism and sports events. Its picnic areas are set in areas of natural beauty (like Banjica, Baranica etc.), places for rest and recreation. The 14th-century Church of the Holy Mother of God lies in the nearby village of DonjaKamenica. In 2014 Knjaževac was chosen as the outstanding destination in Europe. (Project EDEN Network)

Located near the town of Knjaževac, StaraPlanina is the largest mountain in eastern Serbia. This high mountain range of fascinating beauty and unspoiled nature is a natural border with Bulgaria. A one of the most beautiful mountains in our country, StaraPlanina has vast potential for the development of tourism. This mountain is a natural resource of extraordinary importance as falls into first category natural resources. This belle is covered in snow for almost five months a year. Being between 1,100 and 1,900m high, it has excellent potential for the construction of long alpine skiing runs.
